Creating a Mood Board

CONSIDER A THEME

Theme, as defined by Google, is “an implicit or recurrent idea,” and I think that’s a great way to think about this tip. It could be color recurring in the image in different ways or centered around a specific holiday. Your theme can literally be anything! Jot some ideas below to come back to later.

THINK ABOUT COLOR

Try using pops of the same/similar colors throughout the image, or centering the whole image around a single color. Below are a few color palette ideas for each season. You can pull inspiration from Pinterest, or use literally anything else. From book covers to the scene outside your window, color inspiration is everywhere!

CREATE THE BOARD

Create a board on Pinterest, in a graphics editing program, or grab a pair of scissors, glue and a magazine. Use the worksheet on the next page as a starting point, and remember to have fun!
